

What I've been studying the last several nights doesn't come under the head of light reading, and certainly not fiction — unless its "percentage rates might be called unbelievable." They are that, and if you don't believe me I suggest you open up your own package from the Collector of Internal Revenue.

Nothing about this whole business will have the slightest humor for millions of Americans between now and March 15. They will say — some of them will — that the Income Tax Collector is a gent, who was only invited to dinner and then took the house with him when he left.

But after the flooded citizen has had his say in the nation-wide uproar I suspect he will find a wry brand of comedy in the special letter which the Commissioner of Internal Revenue himself has enclosed with each income tax form.

It is humorous because it uncovers a situation where the collector of the highest peace-time taxes in America's history lectures the taxpayer on how not to waste the government's money.

And yet it deals with a serious subject — the fact that the taxpayer is no more accurate in making out his tax return than he is when casting his ballot at the polls. That isn't precisely what Commissioner Dunlap wrote. What he discussed was the deplorable fact that about a fourth of the nation's 52 million individual tax returns contain obvious errors and have to be reworked by his clerical staff.

My share of this paragraph is to deplore America's voting habits which lead to such obvious errors that the whole citizenry finds itself working for what the other guy collects.

This brings us up to now. And now is a good time to give you exactly what Commissioner Dunlap did write:

Dear Fellow Taxpayer:

Our National Defense Program demands much from us. It places a responsibility on both you and me, as fellow taxpayers, to see that our taxes are correctly and completely paid, and to help reduce costs of government operations wherever possible.

The largest single item of expense in operating the Internal Revenue Service is the cost of correcting errors in income tax returns. Out of 52 million individual income tax returns filed last year, 4 million contained errors. The correction of errors on tax returns is a very costly operation to your Government, and an unnecessary expense and annoyance to those taxpayers who make the errors.

This is one cost of government which, with your cooperation, can be reduced materially. A little extra time and care spent in the preparation of returns will accomplish this desirable result.

The Internal Revenue Service, on its part, will make available every possible employee to help those persons who desire our assistance in preparing their returns.

On your part, you can be of tremendous help by following a few suggestions:

1. Study carefully the instructions which accompany the return form before you start filling out the return.

2. If you want our assistance in filing your return, go to the field office nearest to you as soon as possible after January 1, 1952, where you will receive competent and sympathetic help and advice. Do not wait until the last minute rush when our field men are unavoidably snowed under.

3. If you received wages and salaries from which tax was withheld, do not attempt to file your return without attaching the withholding receipt, Form W-2, given to you by your employer.

4. Examine your income figures carefully. Be certain you have left nothing out.

5. If you itemize your deductions — that is, if you do not use either the tax table or the standard deduction — then be certain that each deduction claimed is allowable, and that each is fully explained so we will not have to ask you questions about them later. Remember, you must be able to substantiate them by your records.

6. Be sure that the dependents you claim are allowable. The return forms for 1951 have been revised to help you understand more clearly which dependents are allowable. Follow the instructions carefully.

7. If you have any questions, ask one of our field offices for the answer before you file your return.

Your help in following these suggestions will reflect itself in real savings to all taxpayers, and will enable the Internal Revenue Service to push more vigorously its drive against racketeers and other tax evaders to insure full tax collection from them. Our goal is to see that everyone pays his correct taxes to his Government, and we know we can depend on you to help us attain that goal.

Sincerely Yours,
JOHN B. DUNLAP
Commissioner

Figures Man Has Enough Troubles

Murfreesboro, Jan. 16 (AP) — The auto roared to a stop at the service station. Tires screeched. Bits of gravel showered through the air.

The driver jumped from the car. He tried unsuccessfully to get his key to fit the lock on the car's gas tank cap.

Clifton Altha, owner of the station, noticed the man's plight and offered a hand. Altha got the gas cap off.

The driver then ran to the front of the car and began filling the radiator.

Altha then heard a baby cry. A woman passenger in the car held up a blanket. She had two babies in her lap.

"Oh, twins," said Altha and went on filling the gas tank. He was the father of twins himself.

Another woman in the car told Altha to look in the back seat. There were two more infants. Another woman had them wrapped in a blanket.

That was about 8 p. m. (CST) Monday, a few minutes after 38-year-old Mrs. Haggar Ponder had given birth to quadruplets at a small farm house near here.

Her husband, Leonard, 42, was taking the infants to a hospital at Nashville, about 20 miles southwest of here.

His car needed gas to make the trip. That's when he roared into Altha's service station.

Altha said that when he saw the four babies he got as excited as the father.

About that time, Ponder ran back from the front of the car, jumped under the wheel and yelled "How much do I owe you?"

"Not a penny," said Altha.

The excited Ponder drove off toward Nashville.

Commission Restrained by Court Order

Little Rock, Jan. 16 (AP) — A man who said he is an attorney for Dixie Downs, Inc., threatened today to file impeachment proceedings against Gov. Sid McMath of Arkansas.

Robert E. Park, a stockholder in the horse racing firm, said in Memphis that he would file the action today "in the proper court."

He declined to name the court.

However, Glenn Walther, Little Rock Attorney for Dixie Downs and a member of the Arkansas Legislature, said the report was "utterly ridiculous."

Under the Arkansas constitution, it would be impossible for impeachment proceedings to be handled in a court.

Says the constitution: "The State House of Representatives shall have sole power of impeachment. All impeachments shall be tried by the senate."

Walther, who has represented the proposed horse race track at nearly all of its legal bouts with the Arkansas Racing Commission, said:

"Any time the corporation contemplates any legal move this office always is consulted. To my knowledge, no such move has been contemplated. I know that only the house can impeach a state official."

Notified of Park's statement, Gov. McMath said with obvious unconcern:

"Tell him (Park) to go ahead and impeach. It won't add anything to the other things that I have to put up with."

Parker said tentative plans call for the commission to meet again Monday to take up the Dixie Downs matter. His announcement made after Gov. McMath, a bitter opponent of the track, had asked the commission to go ahead with plans for discussing the Dixie Downs permit.

The governor said "we want to see what we can do under the law. Of course we're not going to violate the law or the court order."

The injunction prevents the commission from taking any testimony or any adverse action on the franchise until Dixie Downs officials have received notice of the hearing.

Rep. Glenn Walther of Pulaski County, an attorney for Dixie Downs, asked for the injunction, saying Dixie Downs officials had not been notified of today's hearing "on the basis upon which a revocation of the franchise could be considered."

Walther quoted a 1947 act that requires parties to such a hearing be given notice by registered mail.

The racing commission granted a permit to Dixie Downs last November over the protests of Gov. McMath and church leaders in West Memphis and Memphis, Tenn.

Chairman Van Lyell of Hot Springs called today's commission meeting to consider "new information" on qualifications of one of the Dixie Downs officials.

Meanwhile backers of the horse race track are going ahead with plans for a referendum in Crittenden County Jan. 22.

At Paragould, a commission member J. Herbert Farrell said he thought a meeting of the commission was unnecessary "at this time." Farrell said he thought any controversy over the track should be settled by the Crittenden County voters.

All Taxes Must Be Paid at Same Time

Crit Stuart, office deputy for Sheriff Claude Sutton, said today that in the future real estate and personal taxes must be paid for at the same time, under an act passed by the last legislature.

You can't pay your real estate taxes without paying personal taxes, he said. The deadline without penalty is October 1, each year.

VFW Womanless Wedding to Again Aid Polio Drive

The riot will be held Friday night, Jan. 25, at 8 o'clock at the Hope City Hall and admission will be 25 and 50 cents. Several good novelty acts will be presented.

Taking part in the wedding will be local businessmen. The event raised $150 for the campaign last year.

Guernsey Soldier In Germany With Air Service

Munich, Germany, — Pfc. Glen D. Hoover, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hoover, Route 4, recently joined the Munich Airway and Air Communications Service Group at the Munich Riem Airfield, Germany.

Arriving overseas in December, Hoover has been assigned as clerk typist in the Central Filing Division. Before entering the Air Force in May, 1951, he attended the Guernsey High School, where he was graduated in the same month.

While in the United States, Hoover completed an Air Force clerk typist course at the Louisiana Polytech Institute.

The AACS, of which Hoover is a member, is a part of the Military Air Transport Service and is in itself a worldwide organization, having men stationed in every free country.

A New Society Is Formed for the Protection of Parents From School Homework

By ARTHUR EYSON
(For Hal Boyle)

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP) — If the Society for the Protection of Parents From School Homework will please come to order, your president will get on with his report.

Frankly, the situation is not good. All over the country parents are tottering under the burden of writing essays on the robin or trying to solve obscure arithmetic problems.

The U. S. Office of Education has no statistics on how many hours parents spend each year on their children's homework.

But a fellow I talked to there said he had a pretty good idea.

"Plenty," he said.

I realized I had a potential member of our Society.

"What is your hardest subject?" I asked sympathetically.

"Latin," he said.

"Mine's mathematics," I said.

Actually, the real evil behind doing homework for children often has been overlooked.

Moralists have attacked it on the grounds that a child should do his own homework, and not palm it off on his parents.

That may be true. But I suspect the argument often is used by people who can't do the homework, and therefore hide behind their morality.

I think a more honest approach is this: To do a child's homework tears down the final shield of respect for his parents' ability.

By the time a youngster is a year and a half old, he has begun to think for himself. If he's smart at all — and they all seem smart nowadays — he has us parents pretty well sized up as frauds who rarely have the courage to carry out the threats we make.

In a few fields, however, the parents linger on as something of an authority. True, as the father of four girls, I have to skulk around

Kennon Gains on Bogg in Louisiana

New Orleans, Jan. 16 (AP) — U. S. Rep. Hale Boggs, backed by Senator Russell Long (D-La.), clung to his slim lead today in the race for governor of Louisiana.

Appellate Judge Robert Kennon of Minden, La., held to his second position as returns mounted from yesterday's Democratic primary.

Former State Judge Carlos Spaht hand-picked choice of Gov. Earl Long, ran third after surrendering the second spot to Kennon late last night.

Nomination in the Democratic primaries is equivalent to election in one party Louisiana, but a runoff Feb. 19 appeared certain for the ultimate top two candidates in yesterday's voting.

Tabulation of 800 of the state's 2112 precincts at 10 a. m. (EST) today showed:

Boggs 78,840.
Kennon 74,491.
Spaht 73,026.

Lt. Gov. William Dodd 32,059.
James McLeomore, Alexandria 15,310.

Dudley J. Leblanc, former patent medicine manufacturer Hadacol of Abbeville, 15,310.

Kernit Parker, the first negro to run for governor of Louisiana since reconstruction days, 2,005.

Lucille May Grace, the first woman to seek the governor's chair, 2,108.

Cliff Liles of Lake Charles, the only candidate urging legalized gambling, 514.

Sen. Long, son of the late Huey Long, broke with his uncle, Gov. Long, to support Boggs. He said he was tired of old political hatreds.

Another of Boggs' supporters was former Gov. Sam Jones, once a strong anti-Long leader.

One Juror Kept Gambler Out of Prison

New York, Jan. 16 (AP) — Gambler Frank Costello's first criminal conviction in 37 years reportedly blocked by a lone juror — will face a new trial for contempt of the U. S. Senate Crime Committee.

And the committee's former chairman, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), may be a prosecution witness at the retrial.

Unable to agree on even one of the 11 contempt charges against Costello, a Federal Court jury yesterday gave up its efforts to reach a verdict after being out 23 hours and 10 minutes.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan continued the defendant in $5,000 bail and set Friday for a preliminary hearing on a new trial.

The court acted after the deadlocked jury was discharged and

Midwinter Band Concert Planned For February 1

On Thursday, February 1st, the high school band, directed by G. T. Cannon, will present its annual midwinter concert from the stage of the high school auditorium. Curtain time is set for 7:30.

The winter concert for several years has been considered the high point in local musical activities during the season and this one promises to maintain that position.

Band members and director alike have been working hard since the Christmas holidays to make this concert a memorable one.

There will be an admission charge of twenty five cents for students and fifty cents for adults, the proceeds going to help pay for merit awards in the form of band jackets.

The program planned is one which should have a wide appeal. There will be novelties, solos, etc., to suit the taste of all. In addition, the featured numbers of the entire evening will have its Arkansas premiere that evening. Further details will be announced later.

Bell Telephone Franchise Tax Hiked $900

In a routine session last night Hope City Council passed an ordinance raising the franchise tax of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company from $600 to $1,500 per year. Similar action will probably be taken in the near future to raise the taxes of other public utilities operating in Hope.

An application by T. S. Stubbs to establish a taxicab service in Hope was opposed by the council after several weeks of delaying the original request. The vote was unanimous against granting the application.

At the present time one taxicab firm is operating in Hope. It is owned by Jesse Brown, a member of the council.

Paul Bain, headed a group of citizens who live in the vicinity of Hope Basket Company, protesting smoke and chinders caused by burning refuse at the plant. The matter was discussed and the city attorney instructed to make further inquiry into a legal remedy.

A committee was named to work with Ralph Johnson, scout executive, on planning a Citizenship Day in Hope. A proposal that a scout act as city officials during the day was made. The day will be held sometime during Scout Week, February 6-12.

Several representatives of engine manufacturers submitted written information on generating and power units. In the near future a special committee will meet and discuss the power situation and make recommendations for council action.

Dr. Herbert Rogers, city health officer, made a report on the health department.

A request from Martindale Clinic for two free parking spaces was granted.

Clyde Zinn, water and light plant manager, was instructed to take bids for the installation of additional water cooling units at the local plant.

Without objection the city attorney was asked to prepare an ordinance to close an alley in Block 14, College Addition. A request by Jesse Sinclair to close and vacate 17th Street, running from S. Elm to L&A tracks, was referred to the street committee for investigation.

Four Fatal Accidents Tuesday

Arkansas' violent death toll for the week begun Monday climbed to six as four fatalities were reported Tuesday.

An 18-year-old Woodruff County farm youth, Eugene Helm, was injured fatally when an auto crashed into the rear of a wagon he was driving near Cotton Plant.

There were two fatalities in separate accidents near Lake Village. Mrs. Flossie Daniel, 45, was injured fatally when an auto in which she was riding struck a mule. She was the wife of Charles Daniel, Monticello, Ark., who was injured seriously. Their daughter, who also was in the car, was not hurt.

Charles Edward Goodman, 25, of Lake Village, died in Lake Village hospital of injuries suffered Saturday when his car left Highway 2 on a curve and overturned.

The body of 31-year-old Arthur Leon Blacett, a Poinsett County farmer, was found in a water-filled roadside ditch near Lepanto. Cause of death hasn't been determined.

Blacett had been missing from his home since Saturday.

Sheriff Lee Wright said he was questioning two teen-aged youths. The sheriff said the boys were with Blacett Saturday night.

$5 Billion Tax Hike Is Asked by President

Washington, Jan. 16 — President Truman called today for a 1952 tax increase approaching five billion dollars by boosting "some" rates and plugging loopholes.

But Mr. Truman dropped, for the present, his goal of a pay-as-you-go mobilization. And in seeking new revenue, which many congressional tax leaders say they will not vote, the President did not specify whether the burden should be added to business, income, or excise rates — or all three.

This annual economic message to Congress forecast the "most difficult" year of the armament buildup, large federal deficits, some civilian shortages but few hardships, and a "precarious" price problem.

Mr. Truman fixed two major goals for this "year of strain": First, a 5 per cent rise in national output; second, one and a third million more men and women at work.

His want-list of legislation was long. It began with a two-year extension of the Defense Production Act; the repeal of "weakening" price control amendments; improved farm price supports; stronger curbs on consumer and bank credit; and so on to a total of a dozen laws.

But the shaker, as far as Congress was concerned, was the President's calm demand for the rest of the "10 billion dollar" or "more" tax hike he requested last session — of which he got only about $5,400,000.

Tax-writing leaders of both houses have stated publicly they will not increase rates in 1952, after piling 15 billions onto the country's tax bill in the last year and a half. Some repeated the declaration privately today.

These congressmen, as well as several White House officials, advisers had expected Mr. Truman to emphasize the elimination of so-called loopholes and "inequities" by which the President says some well-to-do groups have escaped their full share of the tax burden.

The loophole-stoppers he has mentioned would, in fact, provide two to three billion dollars in revenue, amounting to half or more of the new request. They are expected to get a better hearing than requests for higher income, business, or excise rates.

But Mr. Truman, telling Congress he expects an eight billion dollar deficit this fiscal year, ending June 30, and a "dangerously large deficit" of about 15 billion dollars in the following year, asked for both revenue-raising approaches to minimize the red ink.

Rescue Units Near Stranded Streamline Train

Dutch Flat, Calif., Jan. 16 (UP) — Rescue units fought through 30-foot drifts to within two miles of the streamlined City of San Francisco, snowbound in the high Sierras for 72 hours with 222 persons aboard.

The passengers bunched in blankets aboard the heatless train as two methods were devised to bring them out of the snow-choked mountains where their train was stopped by two snowslides Sunday.

There were some reports of illness, but Dr. Lawrence Nelson, a physician aboard the train, said "there are medical supplies aboard the train and no one is in serious condition. Everybody is bundled up and comfortable. Moral is high."

The train, originally carrying 190 passengers and 30 crewmen, has been without heat since late Monday when it ran out of fuel except for a meager blaze in the coal burning kitchen range.

The nearest rescue team to the train was a California state highway crew, pushing through the drifts on U. S. Highway 40, paralleling the Southern Pacific tracks.

It appeared that the six men in the party, traveling aboard two trucks behind a "snogo" (rotary highway snow plow), would be the first to reach the train.

The highway department said one tentative plan called for the highway crew to make its way to the train and remove the passengers by weasel over the 500 feet of terrain between the highway and the right-of-way.

From there, the passengers would be shuttled to Nyack Lodge, a resort five miles from the train, in 20 passenger automobiles where they would board a relief train scheduled to arrive shortly at nearby Emigrant Gap.

Mrs. Dorothy Dufour, owner of the Nyack Lodge, said the highway crew passed the lodge at 4 p. m. (EST) yesterday and had covered about three miles of the distance to the train.

The second plan was dependent on the relief train reaching Emigrant Gap before the highway crew could fight its way along the road to a position opposite the train.

In that event, officials said wagons carried aboard the train would be sent directly to the stranded steamliner to remove its passengers in relays to the train waiting at Emigrant Gap.

Only four persons — three servicemen and a civilian — had been removed from the train so far. They were taken to Nyack Lodge and immediately put to bed.

Mrs. Dufour said they told her that "some kind of gas" had made the passengers sick, and it was assumed the air in the tightly-closed train had become foul.

She said that when the highway crew passed the lodge, snow was falling about a half an inch an hour.

Bold Teacher Experiment Considered

Little Rock, Jan. 15 (AP) — Representatives of 15 Arkansas colleges met here again today to discuss problems of the Ford Foundation's proposed "bold experiment" in teacher education.

Dr. Harry Kronenberg, dean of the University of Arkansas College of Education, said he was doubtful that any definite plan of action could be charged during the two-day conference that opened yesterday.

Dr. Kronenberg is attempting to encourage 111 Arkansas colleges to participate in the proposal.

The college representatives set up a planning committee at last night's session. There was no outward show of opposition but the school officials indicated that acceptance of the proposal appears months away.

There was a suggestion from Southern State College that the colleges be given a full year to plan the reorganization of teacher training as suggested by the proposal.

No action on this suggestion was taken.

Dr. Kronenberg said he hoped the college officials could work out some plan before Jan. 30. That's the date he meets with Dr. Alvin C. Gurnea, vice president of the Ford Foundation fund for Advancement of Education.

The Foundation has offered to put up the money — it could hit the 10 million dollar mark — to finance the program in Arkansas.

Under terms of the proposal Arkansas would serve as a pilot state to revolutionize teacher education throughout the nation.

The plan would require prospective teachers to take a four-year course in general college work and one year of intensive post-graduate work or internship in one of several teacher training centers. The centers would be set up in selected public school districts over the state.

Previously, Dr. Kronenberg said that several other states are interested in setting up the plan if Arkansas turns it down. He didn't name the states.

Friends to Help Slayer of Husband

Jonesboro, Jan. 15 (AP) — Friends and neighbors of Mrs. Velma Arder 32, of Cash, Ark., have taken an unusual step in trying her complete exoneration in the fatal shooting of her husband, Claud, 39.

They are circulating petitions asking that charges of first degree murder against her and her son, Claud Jr., 14, be dismissed.

Former Craighead County Sheriff Houston Johnson, Cash, landowner, said 125 persons already have signed the petition.

The petitions recite that the signers are familiar with "abuses" which Arder allegedly inflicted on his wife and nine children. The petitions will be given to Prosecutor Charles Parlow of Blytheville, Johnson said.

Arder was slain while he slept early Jan. 2. Mrs. Arder said he beat her and the children repeatedly.

The charge against the boy was described by Parlow as a technical one. Claud Junior reportedly re-loaded the rifle for his mother after she had fired one shot into the body of her sleeping husband.

McMath to Pay State Income Tax

Little Rock, Jan. 15 (AP) — Gov. McMath will pay state income tax in line with settlements made with the federal government on earnings during 1946-50.

The governor said yesterday state income tax adjustments were being worked out. He said he would announce details of the adjustments when they are completed.

McMath announced Dec. 27 he had paid $9,170 in back federal taxes and interest on income for 1948, 1949 and 1950.

drop temperatures to winter normals.

Winds nearly 80 miles an hour whipped San Francisco. Trees snapped, signboards collapsed and power lines came cracking down.

Damage in the San Francisco area alone was estimated at $1,000,000 and it was climbing hourly.

Flooding, particularly in Contra Costa and Alameda counties, worsened. An estimated 2,500 persons were homeless.

DOROTHY DIX

Successful Mother-In-Law

Dear Miss Dix: To those who believe that all mother-in-laws are either overbearingly bossive or miserably downtrodden, may I offer my experience.

Mine is a middle-sized family, grown now and married. As each new member was chosen and added, he or she was assured of a welcome. They knew I was proud and happy to have them for my children and that they would be loved like the others. I have been very sure they never had cause to doubt it. When a boy or girl comes into a family not knowing the parents, let alone the countless other relatives, that is the time to win their hearts. One of my girls said not long ago, "Isn't it wonderful, there isn't one of the family who is not congenial, who does not fit?" Each baby has been just what grandmother wanted.

Sometimes I have had the impulse to interfere, but I restrained it. The personal lives of my children are their own affairs. The children love to come to Grandma for a day or two but they're not allowed to wear out their welcome. I love to sew for the youngsters. I show no partiality. I'm accepted as mother to all my brood, am always welcome at their homes, and to us, holidays are wonderful events. Mothers' Day is a day of joy and humility — joy because of the remembrances, and humility because I know so many things I might have done differently and better.

NANCY E. Answer: Volumes could be written about the mother-in-law problem — and have been — but what can they offer to supplement the gracious charm of this mother and mother-in-law?

Prejudices at Fault

The in-law problem becomes an issue only because the protagonists don't want to solve it. Mother is determined to dislike any girl her son marries; daughter-in-law is sure her husband's mother is going to be a horrid, bossy creature and makes no attempt to meet the older woman half-way. Result — the sort of mess that runs so many marriages.

Nancy has the answer. The heartwarming family picture she shows us is the goal for which every woman should strive. Surely it takes no more effort to achieve than the unhappy in-law situation.

Plane Pulled From River

New York, Jan. 15 (AP) — An airliner that plunged into the East River yesterday without loss of life was hauled onto a floating derrick today.

Salvagers described the North-east Air Lines twin-engine Conquest as "a total loss."

Ed Brause, representing the salvagers, said the floating derrick would not attempt to take the plane to shore until a heavy fog cleared.

He announced over a ship-to-shore telephone from the floating derrick both wings of the plane were broken, the right engine hung clear of its cell in the wing and the underside of the fuselage was torn.

The plane plummeted into the river while coming in to Laguardia field for a radar landing in murky weather. All 36 persons on board, at least two of them seriously hurt, were rescued. The plane was bound for New York from Boston.

Investigators are waiting to view the wreckage to determine the cause of the crash.

ever he does something wrong, he refuses to say he's sorry. He claims that the apology would be an admission that I'm right. Also, he's not very affectionate, especially in public. We've been married two years and I feel he should be more demonstrative.

M. L.

Answer: If these are the only matters that stand between you and a happy married life, they should be easily solved. Your husband is wrong in one point, you are wrong in the other. Now if you are each willing to give in presto! All difficulties solved.

A positive sign of immaturity and weak character is the unwillingness — all too frequently met — to admit when one is wrong.

It is not necessary, as you suppose, for two people, no matter how much in love they are, to make public manifestation of their affection. Their feelings will be made apparent through their congeniality, mutual courtesy and consideration. It isn't necessary to make an exhibition of your feelings.

Scribes All Have Plan to De-Emphasize
 New York, Jan. 15 (AP)—Are college sports over-emphasized?
 Most of the men who write about them and broadcast them think so, and they've got almost as many cures for the situation as a dog has fleas.

Some 117 of the writers and broadcasters voting in the Associated Press annual year-end poll agreed there's too much emphasis on sports at the college level, while only 43 said there was no over-emphasis.

Suggested cures ranged from such matters as subsidization and scholarships to one man's idea of shooting the spectators. Some of those in the minority, on the other hand, commented that the only thing being over emphasized was de-emphasis.

Biggest target of those who would de-emphasize college sports were rah-rah alumni who wave greenbacks as well as the old school colors. A baker's dozen of the writers suggested colleges clamp down on alumni efforts to improve their schools' athletic record by offering cash assistance to underfunding hallmarks and sharp shooting basketball players.

Henry Kerk of the Pittsburgh
 Sun-Telegraph asks that the alumi be "shipped on a slow boat to the Thousand Islands," while William Garrison of the Charlotte Observer suggested "a penal colony of overly exuberant alumni."

Nine writers urged that recruiting, subsidization or proselytizing call it what you will be outlawed or, at the very least, rigidly controlled. One less vote was cast for the suggestion that athletes be required to make normal progress toward a degree, with no favoritism, and also for a plan for some sort of uniform code of rules governing colleges all over the country.

Seven votes each were given to the idea of putting sports "back on the campus" and to the elimination of both the two-planet system paired it with spring practice as a cause of overemphasis.

Although the votes were cast before the end of the year, the writers' recommendations on these two points apparently gained an even break at the NCAA convention last week.

The football coaches voted to retain the two-planet system although it must be approved by the NCAA Rules Committee this week but the NCAA did act to restrict spring practice to 20 sessions. That will be quite a change for some of the football founders.

Athletic scholarships, which the American Council on Education Committee of Presidents wants to abolish, also came in for lots of attention from the press box experts.

Protestants Applaud Gen. Clark's Action

By The United Press

The nation's Protestant leaders today applauded President Truman's withdrawal of the nomination of Gen. Mark Clark as ambassador to the Vatican, and some said the "damage was already done."

One leader said that the President could not completely appease the non-Catholic groups, even if he abandoned the deal now. But all agreed that this would be the happier alternative to Mr. Truman's announced intention of finding another man for the job. When he announced the withdrawal yesterday at Clark's own request, the President said he planned to submit another nomination later.

"We are opposed to the appointment of an ambassador on purely religious grounds and will continue to be so whoever may be appointed," said Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill, head of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

"The happiest outcome would be to hear no more about this unwelcome proposal," said Sherrill, whose organization represents 31,000,000 Protestant church members.

But the Rev. Adolph Rohn, pastor of the Edgewater Presbyterian Church in Chicago, posed Mr. Truman's dilemma.

"The damage is already done," Rohn said. "I don't think there's anything Truman can do now to restore the faith of the people, even if he drops the whole plan."

This view was echoed by the Rev. B.K. Neumann, pastor of Chicago's Lutheran Memorial Church.

"His original appointment is already known," Neumann said.

Catholic leaders were generally silent yesterday about the withdrawal, but Protestant spokesmen called the move "encouraging," although they asserted that the battle was not over.

The Rev. Alfred W. Saxon, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Madison, Wis., said that Mr. Truman's decision was "in accordance with good government."

The Rt. Rev. Gordon V. Smith, Episcopal bishop of Iowa, said the appointment would have been "contrary to the traditional American diplomacy and way of life."

Another Chicago leader called for watchfulness on the part of Protestant church members.

"We must continue vigilant opposition to the establishment of the post," said the Rev. William Dimin, executive secretary of the Chicago Baptist Association.

Bishop John Wesley Lord, President of the Methodist church in the Boston area, said "our opposition to the appointment of any man shall continue" because "we opposed the appointment in principle."

Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist Church in Atlanta and spokesman for the Southern Baptists, said he was "grateful" that Clark had withdrawn.

And it is to be hoped that the President will not succeed in persuading any other American citizen to be a party in the effort to establish diplomatic relations with the Vatican or any other religious body or hierarchy," he said.

Oil Production in Arkansas Is Down

Tulsa, Okla., Jan. 15 (AP)—Daily average production of crude oil and lease condensate in the United States during the week ended Jan. 12 was 11,177,000 barrels, 12,023 barrels under the previous week, The Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

Greatest gain, The Journal said, was in Kansas, up 7,000 barrels to 11,310,000. Louisiana also had a substantial increase, gaining 39,000 barrels to 666,500.

Largest loser was Texas, off 14,000 barrels to 2,740,000 barrels. California and Mississippi dropped 6,000 and 1,350 barrels, respectively, to 928,500. States with declines included Arkansas, down 200 barrels to 82,000 and Oklahoma, 1,300 to 517,000.

Patient: "But I tell you, Doctor, I didn't have any bad dreams last night."

Psychiatrist: "How do you expect me to help you if you don't do your home work?"

OPS Approves Beer Price Increase

Washington, Jan. 15 (AP)—A bottle of your favorite beer may cost a penny or two more after Jan. 28.

The Office of Price Administration (OPA) issued an order last night permitting brewers to raise prices of all malt beverages.

Tables specify the exact increase, but OPA said they will average about 1 cent for a 12-ounce bottle or can of beer.

The OPA order said the increases were ordered to reflect higher federal taxes and costs of raw materials, containers and labor.

County district attorney, named Vincent E. Stewart, charged into the Eugene Burwell Los Angeles robber, and James Alonzo Rogers, Los Angeles robber, were beaten and serving a term for intent to murder in San Francisco, as the killers.

Since said this is what happened: Burwell and Rogers were plotting to escape. They had the sets, a six inch knife. They found Burwell inmate Joseph E. Wolfe, 22, Los Angeles burglar.

Rogers climbed on a library table and feigned illness, when Wolfe came in. Rogers grabbed him and Burwell stabbed him. Burwell was stabbed in the lung during the scuffle.
